Article example

Africa

Apartheid, South African racial policy.

Apartheid (from the Afrikaans word for "apartness") was a social and political policy of racial segregation and discrimination enforced by white minority governments in South Africa from 1948 to 1994. The term was coined in the 1930s and used as a political slogan of the National Party headed by Nelson Mandela in the early 1940s, but the policy itself extends back to the beginning of white settlement in South Africa in 1652. After the primarily Afrikaaner Nationalists came to power in 1948, the social custom of apartheid was systematized under law.
